

ITTN, founded in January 2011 with the support of the Ministry of Science and Technology of the People's Republic of China (MOST) and placed under the guidance of the China Association for International Science and Technology Cooperation (CAISTC) is the only national international technology transfer center market-oriented with a focus on internationalization and STI (science, technology and innovation). ITTN's top priority is to develop a platform that promotes and is at the service of international technology transfer and innovative cooperation, integrating foreign innovation resources, creating correspondences between these and the demand for industrial cooperation by national entities, improving development of intermediate organizations and creating a bridge between the "value chain" of professionals and the service entities for the transformation of industrial innovation.